

Epta and Edulia for the talents of the Ascanio Sobrero Senior High School

Date: 02 July 2023

Epta and Edulia, Dal Sapere Treccani steer the talents of the Ascanio Sobrero Senior High School of Casale Monferrato thanks to a rich and stimulating PCTO programme designed together to accompany students into the future. The initiative got underway in the second part of the academic year 2022/2023 and reached its final stage today during which the 40 participants, hosted by Epta at the premises of Casale Monferrato, are going to challenge each other in a hackathon where they can put into practice the skills acquired and realise the best project.

Innovation, future and entrepreneurship are the keywords of the collaboration between Epta and Edulia, Dal Sapere Treccani, the new hub for digital education developed with the goal of proposing cross-disciplinary courses and sharing thoughts on the contemporary panorama. This has resulted in a modular programme which combines synchronous and asynchronous activities to deepen four key themes:

1. Emerging technologies, to discover the employment market promoted by digital transformation and expand the knowledge required in that sector.
2. Automation and industry 4.0, to reflect on the consequences of a smart evolution in the employment world.
3. Lean manufacturing, for a look at a management philosophy that encourages continuous improvement.
4. Future, work and orientation, namely courses dedicated to the techniques of foresight, to explore and build the scenarios of tomorrow according to a responsible approach.

"The PCTO programmes organised with Edulia open local Companies to the young people of the senior high schools, transforming the learning activities. If, for young people, these initiatives are an opportunity to explore numerous occupational prospects, for Companies it means enhancing and investing on the resources of the future." Comments Emanuele Bertolotti, HR Business Partner Epta Casale Monferrato, who concludes "Aware of the role of Epta in the context in which it works, partnerships like these allow us to create a bridge between the employment world and the academic world, bridging the educational gap between the two. We thank Edulia and the A. Sobrero Senior High School for this opportunity of growth for Epta, for all students and for the local area".

Please share the news