

Epta confirms itself Sustainability Leader for the fourth consecutive year

Date: 18 May 2024

Epta confirms itself Sustainability Leader for the fourth consecutive year, fully entitled to be in the ranking elaborated by Sole 24 Ore, key Italian economic-financial newspaper, and by the German independent research institute Statista, following careful analysis of multiple Key Performance Indicators (KPI).

The selection of the most virtuous companies of each sector occurs transparently, through the attribution of a score out of 100, with reference to the modular system of interconnected standards of GRI reporting, for each parameter of the three dimensions of sustainability: social, environmental and economic.

The prestigious title is presented to those Companies which have distinguished themselves in the ecological, ethical, social and governance transition, contributing to the realization of a respectful and sustainable economic ecosystem.

The title of Sustainability Leader, now in its fourth edition, certifies Epta as absolute model of excellence in the ESG sector, rewarding the Group for excellent performance achieved in terms of energy consumption, use of energy from renewable sources, waste management, Diversity&Inclusion, welfare politics, actions of social responsibility and economic sustainability.

"The ESG criteria are the cornerstone of Epta's Entrepreneurial Formula for success and have always been integrated in the strategic approach of the Group, as already highlighted in 2012 in the first sustainability report and in the Integrated Financial Report since 2022" declares Marco Nocivelli, CEO and Epta President, who concludes "The goal is to create shared value and long-term sustainability, and this award encourages us to pursue goals set in the Strategic Plan with renewed determination. These include a 55% reduction in the carbon footprint of the Group by 2025."
